Graduate, Benjamin Shine: Great hope in Concept Design

The Observer Magazine published the Courvoisier supplement, The Future 500 Rising Stars on Sunday 25th November

Central Saint Martins graduate, Benjamin Shine, is the great hope in Concept Design. He has already won the Enterprising Young Brit Award in 2004 for the Skoody - a bag/scarf/jacket combination - and is currently working on a new children's creative toy and competing for public sculpture commission in Canberra, Australia.

Central Saint Martins is well represented in the Fashion and Retail Sector with Louise Gray, MA in Fashion Design, Edward Meadham and Benjamin Kirchoff, both ex-CSM and founders of mens and womens wear label MeadhamKirchoff, and ex- CSM MA graduate, Danielle Scutt all name checked for successful futures.
