

It's Nice That

Post

Benjamin Shine: Egg Letter Box

Image 21 of 23 < >

The Fabergé Big Egg Hunt

Posted by Rob Alderson, 22 February 2012

There's an unwritten rule that says that anyone writing anything even vaguely Easter-themed must sprinkle their prose with excruciating egg puns, but here at It's Nice That we're better than that. So all we'll say is that The Fabergé Big Egg Hunt, launched in London yesterday, sees 209 giant eggs placed around the city as part of a fundraising stunt for Elephant Family and Action for Children. There's cool ones, weird ones, funny ones and beautiful ones, eggs designed by artistic luminaries (Sir Peter Blake, The Chapman Brothers), eggs designed by creatives we love (Kate Moross, Bompas & Parr, Rob Ryan) and eggs designed by film directors (Sir Ridley Scott). Cracking stuff (so close!).

www.thebigegg hunt.co.uk

It's Nice That No.8 – Pre-order

It's Nice That No.8 is now available to pre-order, and the benefits of doing so are simple: you get the magazine delivered to your door before anyone else; you get our biggest, most beautiful print ever (it's a corker, trust us); and you get an extra-special, not-available-on-newsstands cover.

Highlights

It's Nice That is hosting four nights of talks at Selfridges to coincide with the celebration of all things wordy...

Our new feature Weekender is a weekly "best of" and "have you seen this?" and "hey. Weird" - we love it...

This week's Bookshelf comes courtesy of longtime friend of the site, the paper-cutting goodness of Mr Rob Ryan. Yes!

Winter is here, time for gifts, time for bargain bundles - check out our shop for what's on offer...

Ads via the Deck